The individual handwriting of Ket'i's creativity was shaped by her relationship with the great Georgian artist, Vakhtang Japaridze. Ket'i went through the school of a great artist. At first, she painted in watercolor, then she painted in oil and acrylic, enriching her creative world.

Keti Udzilauri's creativity is versatile. She connected paintings and tapestry together. Many of her works are inspired by tapestry. A young artist creates sketches - "colorful drawings" - which take their finished form in Gobelin.

Tapestry art was established in Georgia in the 60s of the 20th century. It was aided by the development of decorative-applied and monumental-decorative art during this period. The Georgian rug played a significant role in the tapestry formation process. Georgian tapestry has a public purpose and is mostly classic - tightly woven. Keti creates Gobelins with her individualism.

"A specific individual creates an appropriate image with individual features and attitude towards their work. Enjoy the process of painting. Free yourself from the surge of energy, and you will definitely create a "colorful painting" full of emotion, which will occupy a special place with lights, round stained glass windows, and in a dreamy gallery full of greenery"
